DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 2, 5, 8-13 and 15 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kilby '797. Kilby discloses a pad for a tree shaking apparatus (figures 2-5), the pad comprising a resilient polymeric web (middle portion of 10) adapted to wrap around a portion of the tree (as seen in figure 2), a pair of parallel end sections (outer ends of 10, near reference numeral 52) attached to opposite ends of the web with each of the end sections defining a bore (for bolts 57) extending therethrough for receiving a mounting member (i.e., member 17) and a pair of apertures 50 approximately parallel (as seen in figure 5) and adjacent to the bores. Further, Kilby discloses the pad having a pair of generally planar first surfaces (at 28) whereby these surfaces a capable of being less concaved then opposing second surfaces (as seen in figure 2, at 29).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 4, 6 and 14 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kilby 797 in view of Favor 301. Kilby discloses the claimed device substantially as discussed above but fails to show the exact material as claimed. However, like Kilby, Favor discloses a pad for the jaws of a tree shaking apparatus. This pad is made from polyurethane, which is an elastomeric material (column 8, lines 65-67). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to make the pad of Kilby from the material as taught by Favor, as this is one type of resilient material commonly employed in such a pad, absent any showing to the contrary.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 2-6 and 8-15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
